Reveal 'Commie' In Army

McCarthy's Group
Gets Report Woman
In Decoding Room
Was Party Member

WASHINGTON — A former FBI undercover informant testified today she had known as a dues-paying, card-carrying Communist a woman who Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said was handling "top secret messages" as an Army code room employee.

Mrs. Mary Markward, the FBI informant named the Army employee as Annie Lee Moss.

Mrs. Markward, trim in a black suit and white gloves, testified at a public hearing called by McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Mrs. Markward told the subcommittee that as a former Communist party official here she had known Annie Lee Moss as a Communist party member. At the time she said, the woman was a cafeteria worker in the Pentagon.

McCarthy a moment before said the woman whom Mrs. Markward was to name is, according to the subcommittee's understanding now working in the code room of the Army signal corps, "handling top secret messages."

McCarthy is embroiled in controversy with Secretary of the Army Stevens over McCarthy's charge the Army has "coddled Communists."

Stevens was once scheduled for a face-to-face meeting with the committee today on the issue, but McCarthy deferred the session until Thursday.

Instead, McCarthy decided to go into this case which he described as that of an "alleged Communist" in the Pentagon's "decoding room."

Convening the hearing, McCarthy said the testimony he was about to take should come as "no surprise" to the Army because "the Army had the same information months ago."

He said he had given Pentagon officials notice some time ago that he planned to air the case publicly unless they "did something" about it.

McCarthy said that "in fairness" to Secretary Stevens, he wanted to emphasize that "I doubt very much that Secretary Stevens personally knew about this case."

The hearing was the first in which Democratic members of McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee have participated since they quit the group in a row with McCarthy last July.

Present today were Sens. Mc Clellan (D-Ark) and Jackson (D-Wash). The third Democrat, Sen. Symington (D-Mo) is out of the country.

It also was the first hearing at which the Democrats had their own counsel, Robert F. Kennedy, brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

Mrs. Markward testified, in reply to questions, that she had reported regularly and promptly to the FBI while a member of the Communist party.

McCarthy interjected that it could be assumed the FBI had turned over the information to the government departments concerned. And, he added, a Civil Service Commission report would be introduced to make clear the information about Mrs. Moss "was known to the Army for a long time."

Mrs. Markward's role as an undercover agent for the FBI had been known before. She testified that she joined the Communist party in May, 1943, and continued active in it until October, 1949, when she was stricken with paralysis.

Among the various positions she held in the party, she said, was the chairmanship of the "Northeast Club" in the District of Columbia. She identified Mrs. Moss as a member of this unit.

She swore that she had given reports to the FBI on Mrs. Moss as early as 1949.

McCarthy said the inquiry has nothing to do with his blasts at the Army for honorably discharging Maj. Irving Peress, now a practicing dentist in New York. McCarthy has called Peress a "fifth amendment Communist." Peress termed the McCarthy charges "sheer nonsense."

It was the Peress case that touched off a barrage of charges and counter charges between McCarthy and Stevens over the weekend.

Bet On the Duck

It is only a week before the lamb and the lion are supposed to hold their annual race. We'll pick a long shot in this derby and say (at least hope) our old friend, Mr. Duck, will win.

Nostalgia fair tonight and Wednesday. Low tonight near 30, high Wednesday in the 50s.

The temperature at 7 a.m. was 38; 40 at 1 p.m., and 41 at 2 p.m.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 44.0, steady.

Four Are Named Trustees of Fund For Sprinkle Boy

Four men have been named trustees of the fund for William "Butch" Sprinkle, 11, which resulted from a collection for flowers for the funeral of his parents, two sisters, brother and grandfather.

Employees at the Pittsburgh Corning plant, where the father, W. E. Sprinkle, was employed, began a flower fund after the six members of the family were killed in a car-train crash last Wednesday. So much money came in it seemed unnecessary to spend it all for flowers.

After beautiful floral offerings were provided, there was still $150 in the fund and more money was coming in. It was decided to use that extra money as a fund for the survivor of the tragic accident, the 11-year-old boy who is still in critical condition at Bothwell Hospital.

Now the fund is up to $175, and still more may be received, so trustees have been named to take care of the money. They are: D. G. Pirtle, 525 North Grand; R. Schuster, 901 South Harrison; C. B. Keele, route 1, and J. Cook, 1717 South Park.

Senate Begins More Debate On Amendment

Leaders Are Pressing For End This Week To Thorny Question

WASHINGTON — The Senate goes back to its lengthy debate on the Bricker proposal to curb treaty powers today with leaders pressing for final action on the thorny question this week.

The proposed constitutional amendment has been before the body for almost a month, although laid aside temporarily for some other business.

Republican Leader Knowland of California told newsmen he thought the Senate now was ready to dispose of the matter tomorrow or Thursday. He said considerable other legislative business is piling up.

Up for consideration today is an amendment offered by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to his own original proposal, which drew strong opposition from President Eisenhower. Bricker now proposes to write into the already-revised resolution a provision that a treaty or other international agreement cannot become effective as domestic law unless Congress passes legislation on it, or unless the Senate so approves by a two-thirds vote in ratifying a treaty.

This is a substitute for a broader provision which was knocked out in Senate voting last week. But the milder version seems doomed.

Next, Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) may offer a motion to send the entire resolution back to the Judiciary Committee for further study, an action which would shelve it indefinitely.

Knowland has expressed confidence the motion will be beaten.

Next, Sen. George (D-Ga) is scheduled to call up his substitute, which many senators believe will get the most support of any of the alternatives before the Senate.

The key section of George's proposal provides that an international agreement negotiated by a president and not sent to the Senate for ratification cannot become effective as domestic law only if Congress so provides in separate legislation. This is opposed by the administration.

Septic Tanks Make Sewage System Safe

If you plan to install a bath-room this year you need to give some thought to the sewage system.

Two things are essential for safe, convenient handling of sewage on the farm. They are a good septic tank properly located and a good disposal field and line to the tank.

The sewage line from the stool to the tank should be straight, water tight, and have a slope of 2 feet in 100 feet. Four-inch iron soil pipe and bell-mounted sewer tiles with sealed joints are satisfactory. Fiber pipe is also used successfully in many places.

The disposal field should be made of 4-inch drain tile laid on a grade of 2 to 4 inches per 100 feet and with a 6 inch layer of gravel below it. The length of the tile field depends on the number of people in the home and the type of soil. At least 100 feet of tile is needed.

Septic tanks can be located as close as 10 to 15 feet from the house but should be at least 50 feet and preferably 100 feet from the well or cistern and down hill from it. This will prevent surface water from draining from the septic tank toward the well or cistern.

Septic tanks made of high quality concrete will last indefinitely. High quality concrete can be made by using no more than 5 gallons of water for each sack of cement. If ready-mixed concrete is used it should contain 6 sacks of cement per yard of concrete. Past tests have indicated metal tanks last from 7-21 years. Newer coatings have been developed which should increase their life expectancy. Metal tanks which meet Commercial Standards 177-51 for construction and coating are acceptable.

The tanks should be no smaller than 500 gallon capacity for the average household. Smaller tanks fill up with sludge and scum too quickly.

The accumulation of sludge in the bottom of the tank should be checked every year or two. When it is 18 inches deep at the outlet end, for the rectangular tank, it should be cleaned out. The sludge will go out the overflow after this point is reached and clog the disposal field.

There is always a scum which floats on the surface of the liquid in the tanks, so it may appear full any time it is examined. You can check the depth of the sludge in the bottom by wrapping a piece of coarse cloth around a stick and forcing the stick to the bottom of the tank. Leave it there a little while. When it is pulled up the sludge accumulation in the bottom can be measured on the stick.

If you have further questions on septic tank installation see your County Extension Agent or Division of Health official.

Proposal For 18-yr.-old Vote Spotlights Youth of Georgia

BOBBY-sox voters have been commonplace in Georgia since 1944, when these teen-age girls lined up in Atlanta to take advantage of the first election in which 18-year-olds could vote.

By HENRY LESESNE
NEA Special Correspondent

ATLANTA, Ga. — Since they bear arms in defense of their country, should 18-yr-olds be allowed to vote?

For several years now college campuses have buzzed with the question. It has, in fact, reached the deliberative or debate stage in several of the state legislatures.

Now that President Eisenhower has proposed to Congress that it submit a constitutional amendment to the states reducing the voting age in the United States from 21 to 18, the question is going to be repeated a great deal more—on Capitol Hill as well as in the state legislatures.

From the standpoint of experience, only one state can now attempt to answer the question of whether the age should be lowered. Georgia has been permitting 18-year-olds to vote since 1944.

The youngsters' voting is accepted as a matter of course in Georgia. No one gives it much thought, one way or the other. The President's recommendation, however, has stirred some public comment in Georgia on the Georgia practice.

It's all pretty much the same. "The experiment has worked very well," comments the Atlanta Constitution editorially. "Georgians, in general, have never regretted the day they lowered the voting age to 18," says the Augusta Chronicle. People in public life willing to comment have had about the same thing to say.

However, some public officials in the South as well as others, have indicated that should the proposal for a lower voting age meet general approval in the South, the region's traditional attitude on states' rights would likely favor individual state action rather than an amendment to the federal constitution.

They take the position that any state can act to change the voting age, just as Georgia did, and that there is no need for the federal constitution to set a voting age.

Georgia, without a great deal of ado, lowered its voting age to 18 during the administration of Gov. Ellis Arnall who, incidentally, was the youngest governor in the U. S. at the time, and the question then was pretty much as it is now:

"If a youth is old enough to bear arms at 18, isn't he old enough to vote?"

It was argued then, as now, that many young Americans at 18 have completed their formal schooling and are earning their own living and even supporting families, as marriages in the late teens are not uncommon.

But one of the main points made by the advocates of a lower age was that today's youth, as well as all adults, are better informed than previous generations, due in large measure to a continuing process of adult education provided by the mass media of newspapers, periodicals, radio,

Cripple Faces Trial On Murder Charge

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va. — A 66-year-old cripple receives a hearing on a murder charge here today in the shooting of a blind tavern operator who dated his 30-year-old step-granddaughter.

Jerry Bradley, who has been on crutches since breaking a leg Feb. 9, was accused of shooting 56-year-old Billie (Blind Bob) Harris during an argument at the Bradley home early Saturday.

Deputies quoted Bradley as saying Harris beat Anna Lee Willis, Bradley's granddaughter and the blind man's girl friend, Friday morning and accused him of "two-timing" him.

Information Agency Reports It Fired 31

WASHINGTON — The head of the U. S. Information Agency says a check of its staff turned up no Communists, but 31 persons were fired on other grounds as security risks.

Director Theodore Strelitz made the report to Congress yesterday without mentioning names. It covered operations for the past five months.

In all, the agency reduced its personnel from 13,500 to 9,281 during a reorganization in which it cut down operations at home and abroad about 25 per cent.

Gordon Rissler, Greeley, Colo., flew in Wednesday to spend several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rissler. On Thursday Mr. Rissler and his father sent the day in Kansas City visiting with Mrs. Mary Blake who is still in a hospital from the results of the Rissler wreck in November. The rest of the injured are recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Knight and two children of Hutchinson, Kan., were guests for the weekend of Mrs. Knight's parents Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wicker.

Superintendent and Mrs. J. L. Sears attended the funeral of his brother in Independence, Friday, February 12. Rev. Lowell Ellett taught for Mrs. Sears while she was gone.

Billy Graham's Coming Stirrings British Press

LONDON — Billy Graham continued to make headlines in London newspapers today. One paper said British firms had been asked to kick in $10,000 pounds ($140,000) to pay for his three-month evangelistic crusade. Another reported 20,000 pounds ($56,000) already had been collected.

Graham himself was due in Southampton this afternoon aboard the liner United States.

The Laborite Daily Herald, which got up in arms last weekend because of an unflattering reference to socialism in Graham's advertising calendar, said the subscription call had gone to 6,000.

British firms to "help hot-gospel" Graham save us from sin."

The Evening News quoted Billy Graham's campaign treasurer, British motor industrialist Alfred Thompson, as saying 20,000 pounds already has been collected in five weeks from "industrial sources" and private "prayer partners."

A spokesman for Graham's London "crusade headquarters" declined to comment on the newspaper reports of fund appeals.

The Daily Mail said with considerable awe that Graham's London office looks "like the inside of a military headquarters" at zero hour, with 40 assistants working in a room lined with a huge map studded with pins marking church "targets."

All in all, the evangelist was causing a major stir in the British capital. Brightly painted posters pronounced his coming from billboards. London's double-decker buses and the walls of the city's subway stations.

Rev. Duenow Gives Dramatic Review of Book for Sorosis

The Rev. Herbert H. Duenow, pastor of the Ivanhoe Park Congregational Church, Kansas City, brought to life the character of Charles Anderson, English diplomat, at the Sorosis meeting Monday afternoon in his review of the book, "Time and Time Again."

Mr. Duenow gives a dramatic characterization in his book reviews, making the characters very real, and the audience felt that Charles Anderson himself was giving his life's story.

History repeats itself, said Mr. Duenow, assuming the role of the English diplomat, at the turn of the century, who had lived through two wars.

The story began when Charles met his only child, Gerald, in France. At the beginning of the second World War Gerald was four years old and was sent to his mother's sister in America for safety. It was the meeting between Gerald and his father and the boy's suggestion that Charles use his life in the book he was writing that prompted the father to think back on his life. His mother and father had been separated, but they were reconciled. Charles was born and his mother died at his birth. The father always regretted Charles.

Charles went to Cambridge, a second lieutenant, and his father wanted him to be a diplomat. He had an older brother, Capt. Linsey, who died in a prison camp, and he felt that his father would rather he had died, too. The boys he had played with had nicknamed him "Stuffy"; he didn't know why.

One day he passed a place where he saw a very attractive girl sipping tea. He went in and sipped tea with her. Her name was Lily Mansfield and she was a typist; her father was superintendent of parks and he did not tell her his father was a nobleman.

He arranged to sip more tea with her; he went to her home and met her family. The family liked him. He planned to marry Lily on his 21st birthday. Then his father found out about it, paid the girl's father off and he never saw Lily again. Lily had said she was 18, but Charles' father had insisted she was 17, that Charles had got himself into a considerable mess and he had gotten him out.

Charles tried to explain that his intentions were honorable. The father told him that the kind of a girl he needed was one who could push him, "a girl that has the things you lack," the father had said.

"Life is full of wormholes," Charles told his father when he learned of the bribery, "And you seem to know how to find them all."

The next New Year's Eve a girl, Jane Coppermill, moved next door. The father approved of her. She invited Charles to go mountain climbing and they were married six months after that.

Time passed, the curious interval when the last war was not forgotten the next one nearing. The father was now 75 and had become an agitated politician. He believed in Mussolini; he was happy over Hitler's rise to power. When Gerald was born he tried to get the doctor drunk and the doctor told Charles his father was deliberately trying to keep him away. His mind goes 'round and 'round, the doctor said. The father became involved with Hitler, and Charles felt it would ruin his career as a diplomat, but it didn't. The father's mind was still confused.

"I think you have yourself in a considerable mess," Charles told his father. "And I have managed to get you out"—that had a familiar ring. That was what his father had said about Lily Mansfield.

The second World War came. Hitler's powerful army with all its war power directed straight at England—England armed only with pitchforks. "Carry on," the English were told, "Chin up—up—up! There will always be an England."

The German bombs fell, people were killed and among them Jane, who was doing war work. Charles was grieved.

Then came Russia into the war. Hitler turned on Russia in the other direction and then came Pearl Harbor that brought in America. England had time to prepare with more than pitchforks.

The father died. The sarcastic smile still on his face, but before he died he told Charles he did not believe that he was his father. "A terrible thing for a man to say to his son," said Charles.

One day Charles passed the

Finance Education Believers Cure for High Divorce Rate

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

If more American husbands would teach their wives the ABC's of finance, there would be fewer divorces, in the opinion of Margaret E. Kennedy, one of the few women in the country in active partnership in a New York Stock Exchange member firm.

"I'm constantly amazed," says this pink-cheeked petticoat tycoon, "at the number of otherwise intelligent, capable women who haven't the faintest idea where the family money comes from, how much there is of it, or what they would do if their husbands suddenly dropped dead."

Mrs. Kennedy, a young and feminine-looking widow and mother of two children, has established many financial "firsts" for women. She was the first woman executive of the investment counsel firm of Van Strum and Towne, first woman to be appointed a vice president of a large mutual fund sponsor and several years ago became the first woman wholesaler of mutual funds in the country when she formed her own firm, Margaret Kennedy Co. Last year she was admitted as an active general partner in the Stock Exchange member firm of Seligman, Lubekin and Co.

A specialist in finance management, she makes frequent lecture tours around the country explaining her "woman's dollar" program. She explains:

"This all came about when I realized the awful paradox that, although women spend most of the time about the family's future planning, and aren't he to the best ways of investing for the future?" She says:

"There are too many men who say to their wives—'Go ahead and buy what you want; I'll pay for it.' Often the wives have no idea how much the family can afford to spend, whether their husbands have unlimited funds or whether they are on the edge of bankruptcy."

"There was, for instance, the case of the wife of a client of our firm who called franticly on Christmas Eve to say that her husband had just had a heart attack and was in the hospital. Although there was a $5,000 diamond bracelet under the Christmas tree for her from her husband, she didn't know whether the family had money enough for the hospital bill. When her husband's firm assured her, she still was worried."

"But as soon as the husband recovered, do you think he explained anything to her about their finances? No indeed. He just said—'Now don't you worry, honey, I'll take care of everything.'

"That's the trouble with American husbands. By being too protective, they are making financial morons out of their wives. Under such circumstances, who can blame the wife who spends money faster than her husband can make it? She just doesn't know any better."

Survey Traffic Mishaps Over a Five Year Period

Largest, Strongest Chain Being Made

BOSTON (AP)—Harris D. Rodgers, chairman of the state Highway Commission, says a survey of Missouri traffic accidents in the past five to seven years is being made by the Highway Department.

Rodgers said yesterday the survey will list the location of each accident and, where possible, the cause. It will be completed late this summer.

Rodgers said a report on the survey will be submitted to Gov. Phil M. Donnelly for his consideration in relation to possible legislation at the next regular session of the Missouri Legislature in 1955.

There may have to be relocation of some highways in the state, Rodgers said, to cut down hills and eliminate curves. He said the state also needs more dual highways in the most heavily traveled sections.

The chain, known as navy deck, was invented at the yard.

At the time of its burial in a volcanic eruption in 79 A.D., Pompeii was six centuries old.

Sedilians Go To CP Meet In Colorado

Don King, president of the West Central Missouri Cerebral Palsy Association, and Mrs. George West, teacher, both of Sedalia, have returned from Colorado Springs, Colo., where they attended the United Cerebral Palsy Midwest Regional Conference, held Feb. 20 and 21 at the Broadmoor Hotel. The states represented were Colorado, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

The delegates from Missouri were very highly praised for the report of the work being done in this state, with Missouri and Colorado considered the leaders in the Midwest division.

Among the speakers at the convention was Dr. Raymond Taibl, director of special education in the public schools of Pueblo, who himself had been cerebral palsied since birth.

Taking for his subject, "Education for Cerebral Palsy," Dr. Taibl laid great stress on the need for an adaptive environment for cerebral-palsied individuals, so that while conscious of their own limitations they can, nevertheless, emancipate themselves through physical, speech and occupational therapies.

The education environment for the child with cerebral palsy, he said, should take into consideration three essential experiences: first, a child with cerebral palsy has a responsibility to himself in the light of his own ability; second, he has a responsibility to his classmates as he meets them, and, third, he has a responsibility to the community because, in fact, he may one day become an active member of the community.

"We want to lead children with cerebral palsy to adapt themselves to a successful status and security, which brings to the child a sense of true significance," he disclosed. "Finally, if the parents of a child with cerebral palsy are encouraged to look with confidence to all of these resources much can be done."

Floyd A. Doty, president of the Colorado Springs organization, invited the delegates to visit the cerebral palsy training center at the St. Francis Hospital, where there are now 14 children.

Doty told how the letter carriers of Colorado Springs re-walked their routes last year to solicit subscriptions to the cerebral palsy fund. It is hoped, he said, that they will again assist in May of this year.

Children Begin Receiving New Polio Vaccine

PITTSBURGH — The first group of youngsters today received their injections of Salk's vaccine—science's new hope of conquering polio.

Dr. Jonas Salk, discoverer of the vaccine, administered the injections personally, as he will to all 5,000 first, second and third-grade pupils between now and June in 19 Pittsburgh schools.

Under terms laid down by Dr. Salk, names of the children were withheld. The youngsters were given no prior warning.

The University of Pittsburgh scientist said he wanted them to approach the tests in a completely normal frame of mind without building up mental tensions.

Salk has planned the local test so he can watch the vaccine's effect step-by-step in the youngsters receiving it.

Blood tests will be given with the injections—which may number as many as three for each child—to record the progress of the vaccine in building up immunization to the crippling polo virus.

The first large-scale effort is to determine whether the vaccine will confer the hoped-for immunity from infantile paralysis. But the vaccine has been tested, over a period of years, on countless laboratory animals and on more than 600 human beings.

So confident is Dr. Salk that the vaccine cannot harm those receiving it that he, his wife and their two children were among the first to be inoculated.

Housewife Shoots Her Husband In Belief He Had Cancer

THORNWOOD, N.Y.—A housewife shot her husband to death last night in the belief he was suffering from cancer. She also killed their dog and wounded herself.

Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick E. Weeks said Mrs. Margaret Cannon, 55, seemed to feel the shooting "was an act of mercy."

A phone call from her brought police to the Cannon home in Westchester County, where the tragedy was discovered.

Her husband, Thomas, 54, lay in the living room, shot in the temple. Weeks said she was hysterical and that police talked only briefly with her.

She was quoted as saying her husband, an accountant, told her "I've got cancer. Shoot me."

Public Meeting Here March 14 by AA

A public meeting sponsored by Alcoholics Anonymous will be held in Pettis County Courthouse Assembly room at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, March 14. The program will be conducted by an out-of-town chapter of AA.

A special invitation is being sent to all local civic organizations so the people of Sedalia may learn about the workings of Alcoholics Anonymous, an organization of men and women whose sole purpose is to help rehabilitate those to whom the use of alcohol has become a problem.

Hay Program

State Auditor Haskell Holman to day. It showed total hay shipping costs up to that time of $4,711,240 and total administrative expense of $38,833.

Aside from continuing and expanding the hay program, the governor's biggest recommended appropriation was another $1,000,345 for the state penitentiary. Present funds are expected to run out by mid-summer.

Even with the extra money, he said, the allotment for the sprawling prison—now with the biggest population since 1942—would be less than the amounts appropriated for the previous two-year period.

The governor also urged the lawmakers to provide $500,000 more, in addition to a million allotted by the regular session last year, for a new 500-patient building for the Missouri State School. The new branch of the institution for feeble minded and epileptic patients is to be established at Higginsville on the site of the old Confederate Soldiers' Home.

Another state institution, hospital No. 3 at Nevada, needs an extra $30,000, the governor said, primarily for a new sewage disposal plant.

The regular session last year gave the $8 million a year raised by the tax or it will have to curtail many municipal services when the present law expires April 1.

Extension of the two per cent level was killed in the House at last year's regular session and preliminary indications were it would face another battle there during the special session.

Speaker Lester A. Vonder schmidt (R) of Holt County said he thought the tax bill should contain some provision for a referendum so city voters could pass on the question.

Others have expressed fear the St. Louis tax, if made permanent, might become a precedent for Kansas City and other cities to try in their search for new sources of revenue.

Another $10,000 was urged as state aid for memorial hospitals, mainly to help a proposed expansion of a Columbia hospital.

Two other new laws—rabies control and the so-called "hot lunch for hogs" law requiring garbage to be cooked—have brought a need for extra funds for the state veterinary. Donnelly recommended $85,036 for this purpose.

Small additional appropriations also were recommended for the intermediate reformatory for men at Algoa, near Jefferson City; administration of a new hospital licensing law; the Grain Warehouse Division; state boards of Nursing and Cosmetology, the state Divisions of Savings and Loan and Mine Inspection.

As the lawmakers gathered for their second special session in four months, many said they expected it would take the full constitutional limit of 60 days to hammer out the governor's emergency program.

Leaders on both sides have agreed in principle to Donnelly's hay plan.

But early arrivals were far apart on the St. Louis earnings tax extension sought by the City of St. Louis. From the start it loomed as the biggest controversy of the session.

The city says it has to have the $8 million a year raised by the tax or it will have to curtail many municipal services when the present law expires April 1.

Look to Ike For Backing On Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON — Republican congressional leaders are looking to President Eisenhower to help bolster public and congressional support for the administration's beleaguered tax program.

Some GOP congressmen already have discussed the prospect of a presidential broadcast to the nation with administration officials, it was learned today. Informed sources said no decisions have been made.

Some Republican legislators have expressed concern over almost daily Democratic attacks declaring the Eisenhower program gives too many tax cuts to business and doesn't benefit the average taxpayer enough.

Democratic leaders are firmly predicting enactment of Democratic proposals for an increase in individual income tax exemptions, which would spread the biggest tax reductions among large family and low income groups. They argue this would boost consumer purchasing and help pull the nation out of its current economic dip.

Their various proposals would save taxpayers—and cost the government—from 2½ to 4½ or more billion dollars the first year, and possibly more later. They also would increase the prospective federal deficit by that amount.

Key GOP lawmakers concede privately there is some restiveness in Republican ranks over opposing an increase in personal exemptions in this congressional election year. Thus they are looking to the President, whom they credit with great popularity, to help them hold the line—if that is what the administration still wants.

Eisenhower has described his tax program as one carefully balanced to provide both individual and business tax cuts, and to boost consumer buying while at the same time giving badly needed incentives to business.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — When jailers came to that part of Dan Cunningham's commitment slip calling for "valuables," they hesitated and then wrote:

"One baby."

Cunningham, 25, was arrested yesterday on a drunk charge. He was pushing his infant son in a stroller, and arresting officers also brought the child to the jail.

A short time later, the baby was released to his mother.

'Security Risks' Let Out, Get Jobs In Other Agencies

WASHINGTON — Eleven State downs by seven agencies of their 1953 were suspected loyalty risks. Approximately 761,500 employees, these departments have accounted for 1,058 security dismissals or resignations in 1953. Forty of these were listed as suspected or actual subversives.

The statistics were contained in a testimony made public today by the House Appropriations Committee, whose Democratic members have been insisting in budget hearings that all departments specify how many of their security cases were given by R. W. Scott McLeod, administrator of security.

The State Department's statistics Democrats have claimed that the vast majority of the 2,220 federal employees fired or resigned under the Eisenhower administration security program were let out for reasons other than suspected disloyalty.

To date, the committee has made public complete or partial break-

Bob Hill Will Again Head Cancer Crusade

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Robert S. Lee (Bob) Hill, Columbia, will serve as state campaign chairman for the 1954 Cancer Crusade in Missouri, it was announced today.

Hill has held this office for the state division of the American Cancer Society in Missouri and the Dr. George A. Carroll, St. Louis, president of the organization, said when he announced the appointment.

The Cancer Crusade conducted during April is the annual fundraising drive of the American Cancer Society in Missouri and the United States. The 1954 goal for the state is $415,000, none of it for publicity. Rival Las Vegas reportedly spends $500,000 a year plugging itself.

Among the things businessmen were gnashing their teeth about was lack of promotion. The Chamber of Commerce budget was a mere $60,000, none of it for publicity. Rival Las Vegas reportedly spends $500,000 a year plugging itself.

Now, with Palm Springs basked in the reflected glow of worldwide publicity attendant to President Eisenhower's visit, all that is changed.

Thousands of sightseers jammed the town last weekend. Hotels were sold out. The 10,000 year-around residents were swamped with guests who "just dropped in."

Businessmen say they couldn't have bought so much publicity for a million dollars. And it hasn't cost 'em a dime.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — What's a presidential visit worth to a resort community like this?

Two weeks ago this desert spa was in the doldrums. Business was off. Hotels had cut rates. It looked like the winter season might be a bust.

First reports said three or more men were believed to have taken part in the attempted break and that at least one prisoner had made a getaway. Deputy Warden J. H. Robertson said, however, that a check of the prison population showed only the two inmates were involved.

The dead convict was identified as Ronald Coleman of Birmingham, Ala., who had been in prison since June 1953 and who also figured in an escape plot in January.

The injured prisoner was listed

Delay Gamma Globulin Inoculation

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The reaction of the medical profession—particularly state and local health officers—to a somewhat inconclusive report on the use of gamma globulin against polio may determine the extent to which it is used this year. Health officials indicated they would await such reaction before determining the extent to which gamma globulin is used in 1954—and how.

A group of 17 polio experts appointed by the U.S. Public Health Service reported last night that:

1. It had found no evidence that gamma globulin, a blood derivative, prevented or mitigated paralytic polio when given in mass inoculation programs to all children in the 23 areas in 13 states which had epidemics last summer.
2. It had found no evidence that gamma globulin was effective when given to family contacts of persons stricken.

However, the committee qualified its statement about the mass inoculation program by saying that observations did not provide enough information to permit it to conclude whether or not gamma globulin had an effect in preventing or alleviating the disease when used in this way.

National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis President Basil O'Connor said the finding in the case of family contacts "was to be expected" and that the Foundation, foreseeing that, had urged unsuccessfully last year that "by far the lesser amount of GG be used that way."

O'Connor declared that foundation-sponsored tests with mass inoculations in 1951 and 1952, have "not been challenged" by the report of the committee. He declared the previous tests "indicated that when GG was given in mass inoculation at the proper time and in the proper amount, to children in the most susceptible age groups, the results were 80 per cent effective for a limited period of time."

Prepare Now For Good Stand Of Alfalfa Crop

The value of alfalfa on Missouri livestock farms has been forceably pointed up during the past two years. In spite of drought, farmers with properly fertilized stands report high yields.

Good timing is essential in securing good alfalfa stands. Poor seeded preparation, failure to put sufficient fertilizer down deep where it's needed, dependence upon last-minute limestone applications to meet calcium requirements, and late seedings are all the result of poor timing. Any of these can cause failure to secure a good stand.

Alfalfa requires adequate limestone to make good growth. If your soil test shows limestone is needed, it should be applied now and worked into the soil. This will give the limestone time to react with the soil and be available to the young alfalfa seedlings this fall.

An excellent way to prepare for alfalfa is by testing your soil now, applying needed lime and fertilizer, and seeding the land to oats this spring. This will help assure high oat yields, and still give you ample time to work up a good alfalfa seedbed this summer. A starter fertilizer when the alfalfa is seeded should be all that is needed this fall to round out the fertility program.

Uses TV Strategy To Catch a Thief

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Determined to catch the thief who had been taking bread from a delivery box outside his store, grocer Gregory Yaroschuk camouflaged himself with a green blanket that blended with a nearby fence.

The vigil paid off yesterday. Armed with a revolver, Yaroschuk jumped out as the thief started taking the bread and nabbed his man—just like on the TV detective drama that gave him the idea.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood--

Lana Turner Envy Marilyn, Would Like to Meet Mrs. D

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marilyn Monroe may be besieged by her studio and badgered by rival actresses but she has one firm fan—Lana Turner.

"Marilyn is one girl I'd like to meet," says the glamor beauty. "I've followed her career and I think she's got a lot of spunk. She must be a very interesting person."

"Now that she's on top, she'll be hit from all sides. I know just how it is. I've been taking it for 17 years in this business."

Lana made these remarks over cocktails in a quiet corner of a Sunset Strip restaurant. As we talked, several men came by and sat at nearby tables. They stared at the actress and I could sense they were thinking, "That doll looks familiar, but who is she?"

She seemed happy with this fragment of privacy. If her hair were its familiar blonde, the male admirers would have recognized and besieged her for autographs. Her present shade is a dark brown, and she is delighted with it.

"Some people like it, some hate it," she laughed. "Everyone seems to have an opinion. I think it's a great situation: it's a controversy without a scandal. What could be more ideal?"

Lana said that she reverted to her more natural shade for a good reason: her two pictures in Europe called for a dark-haired girl. In "The Flame and the Flesh" she plays a fiery Italian girl, a part very unlike the usual Lana Turner role. She wears one suit through the film. In "Betrayed" she plays a Dutch spy who dyes her hair dark.

Heavy Smoker Needs Chest X-Ray Often

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Cancer Society's statistical research director said today a heavy smoker "is very foolish if he does not have a chest X-ray taken twice a year"—although there is no proof smoking causes cancer.

Dr. E. Cayler Hammond, the director, gave the advice in a copy-righted interview with the magazine U.S. News & World Report.

And the magazine described him as smoking during the interview.

Dr. Hammond said a heavy smoker should take the recommended precaution "so long as there is even a strong suspicion that smoking causes lung cancer."

But he also said everyone, especially those over 45, should have an X-ray at least once a year, and he added:

"If you are a timid soul, then you should also give up smoking at least until the facts are known."

Dr. Hammond indicated the kind of facts ne is after by saying, "If we should find that the death rate from lung cancer is much higher among heavy smokers and the death rate from other forms of cancer is not one bit higher among heavy smokers, then I'd say the evidence would be extremely strong that there is a cause-and-effect relation."

He said his "personal guess right now" is that there is such a relationship between smoking and lung cancer, but he does not know whether the smoking effect is "trivial" or so important that cigarette manufacturers should be stopped "until we find what's in them that is bad and remove it."

he said there were some indications cigarette smokers were more susceptible to lung cancer, while cigar and pipe smokers were more likely to develop lip, tongue or mouth cancer.

As for his own smoking, he said, "I am not going to let it (the problem he is investigating) have any effect on my personal habits until all the facts are known."

Dr. Hammond is in charge of a research project under which 22,000 volunteers have been interviewing 204,000 men 50 to 69 years old about their smoking habits. Each year, the causes of any deaths among the group are medically investigated.

"I used to worry a great deal about such things. But now I have a different attitude. I figure this way: the only person you have to answer to is the one you face in the mirror every morning. If you yourself know that you have done what is right, that's all you have to worry about."

She added that she and her handsome husband, Lex Barker, are aiming to lead a quiet life. "We stay home a great deal," she said. "We pass up the parties that look as though they might turn into brawls. We're happy to let the others have the front pages."

Gen. Dean Urges Military Build-up In Montana Speech

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—Paul Parker, one of the nation's largest merry-go-round manufacturers, says he doesn't know whether general business conditions around the country are good, bad or medium, but in merry-go-rounds it's booming.

The Reds' No. 1 Korean War prisoner addressed a Helena Krocian Honor Day program, held in tribute to war dead. He said the Reds, hope to achieve communism in the United States by one of three methods:

"1. By physiological warfare or propaganda. They have agents here, they have fellow travelers and they are excellent propagandists . . .

"2. The economic attack. They feel if we can have an economic depression that we will have a revolution and communism will take over . . .

"3. By military aggression. But they are not going to attack until they feel we have let our guard down. No country can too long keep a too large military service."

"I got used to just sort of rocking along," he said. "For years the merry-go-round business was just so-so. Then—bang—it raises up and hits me in the face."

"There's no immediate explanation but Parker is well aware

"merry-go-rounds—the business, that is—have their ups and downs."

Would Probe Beer-Owned Ball Teams

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) introduced a bill today to bring under the anti-trust laws any professional baseball club owned by a beer or liquor company.

Johnson, who also is president of the Western League, said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery when the bill was offered, that his move is aimed at August S. Busch, president of the Anheuser-Busch, Inc., brewers of Budweiser beer. Busch also owns the St. Louis Cardinals.

"So that there may be no mis-
"The bill is aimed specifically at the beer-baseball combination at St. Louis where Mrs. August S. Busch . . . has been permitted to gain control of the Cardinals."

The senator accused Busch of using baseball "merely to sell a few more bottles of beer."

"Baseball to August S. Busch is a cold-blooded beer-business," said Johnson, "and not the great American game which sportsmen revere."

Johnson said "this unholy alliance" between beer and baseball is having "an unhealthy influence upon the youngsters of America."

Johnson said 25 brewing companies account for "the major portion of all beer sales in the United States, and are progressively gaining a stranglehold on the industry."

"The concentration of the beer business in the hands of a few large breweries and the destruction of the small local breweries are accelerated by the operation of professional baseball teams as an adjunct of such monopolies," he added.

Plush Railroad Car For Busch Officials

ST. LOUIS — A plush, $300,000 railroad car, equipped with television and two-way radios, will be completed June 1 for August A. Busch Jr., president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and the St. Louis Cardinals.

A company spokesman said yes-

The coach, being built by the Wabash Railroad at Decatur, Ill., will have four bedrooms, an obser-

Yankees Sell Raschi To St. Louis Cards

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The New York Yankees today announced the sale of right-handed pitcher Vic Raschi to the St. Louis Cardinals for cash and several minor league players.

George Weiss, general manager of the Yankees, said the deal involved "considerable cash." The exact figure was not announced and the names of the minor league players involved were not made public immediately.

High point men for Urbana were Dowell who scored 11 goals and three free throws for a total of 25 points. He had four fouls called on himself. Fowler was next with nine goals for 18 points and one foul called on him. Rucker was high point man for Tunas with 7-2 for a total of 16 points and one foul called on him and Madox was second with 6-2 for 14 points and three fouls called.

Macks Creek Over Lincoln

Macks Creek playing the second game of the evening won easily from Lincoln. Macks Creek opened the first quarter with a 10-point lead scoring 18 to 8 and in the second ran off with a 24-7 point scoring to lead at the intermission 42-15. In the third period Macks Creek added 20 points to 9 and then played its second string in the final period when Lincoln came through with 24 points to Macks Creek's 24 points.

Cousins divided scoring honors for Macks Creek. T. Osborn tallied 10 goals and nine free throws for 29 points, two fouls called on him; and L. Osborne had a 7-4 for 18 points and three fouls called on him. Fickens was high pointer for Lincoln with 5-2 for 12 and one foul against him and Sweeneary was next with a 4-2 for ten points. He fouled out.

Bennett High Scorer

Bob Bennett and Dick Stohr did the scoring for Sacred Heart. Bennett scored seven goals and 11 free throws for a total of 25 points while having four fouls called on him. Stohr hit the bucket for four goals and 12 free throws for 20 points and had three fouls called on him.

Scrimager of Windsor was high point man for his team getting 6-3 for 15 points and four fouls called on him while Stiles made one goal and six free throws for an eight total, four fouls called.

In this game the Gremmins opened the quarter with a six point lead scoring 16 to Windsor's 10. In the second quarter it appeared for a few minutes the Windsor team might pull ahead scoring 13 to the Gremmins 10. The Sedalians held to their three-point edge at the half. In the third quarter after considerable consultation between players and coach the two teams traded 10 points apiece.

The victory advances Sacred Heart to the quarter finals to meet the winner of the Preston-Cole Camp game to be played Tuesday night. They will probably meet on Thursday night.

Duquesne took no chances of similar trouble against Bowling Green, stopping the Ohio team with five points in the third quarter while racking up a 79-52 victory. It was the 22nd victory without a defeat for the defense-minded Dukes. Kentucky also boasts a 22-state record.

Western Kentucky, No. 4 team in the latest Associated Press poll, closed out its home season with a 9-27 victory over Cincinnati and Notre Dame. No. 6, turned on the steam in the fourth quarter to down Pennsylvania 62-47.

Tulsa clouted Detroit 89-70 in a Missouri Valley Conference game while Wichita was dumping Houston 86-81 in another conference game. All Wichita has to do now is beat Oklahoma A&M 5 team to win the championship.

In the second game the Bull Dogs defeated the First Baptists and in a practice game the Democrat Carriers won over the Optimist team 27 to 7.

This completes the league schedule. The tournament will be played this Saturday and Sunday at Horace Mann gym. Teams entered in this tournament are the Democrat Carriers, Capital Carriers, Optimists, Troop 65, Methodists, First Baptists, Bull Dogs and the Episcopal team.

Changes Being Proposed For Farm Program

Rev. Bryan Tells Rotarians--

Brotherhood No Longer Seems A Luxury, It Is a Necessity

By Clarence Klinger, Extension Agricultural Economist

A number of questions are being raised about proposed changes in the present farm program. President Eisenhower has sent his recommendations to Congress, and although there is nothing new in the proposal, they will make some changes in the operation of present programs if enacted by Congress.

In the first place, it is proposed that the current ceiling on C.C.C. funds be increased from $2 billion dollars to $2.5 billion dollars in order to insure the present price support commitments on 1953 and 1954 crops.

The second proposal is the freezing of about $2 billion dollars worth of current surplus, including cotton, wheat, vegetable oils, and dairy products to insulate them from our stocks and handle them as a national emergency stockpile.

The third proposal, and the one which is causing most of the discussion at this time, is the switch from rigid price supports for basic commodities to a flexible price support system. Under present legislation, six basic commodities, including cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts are supported by 90 percent party. Under the proposed legislation level would be between 75 and 90 percent, depending upon supply and demand.

Supporters of the flexible price program feel it would help direct production in line with consumer preferences and would bring about a better balance among the various commodities. In other words, it would tend to discourage production of other products which are in surplus.

Another major feature of the present proposal would be the use of a modernized parity formula for all products. This would lower the parity for some products, such as wheat and corn, putting them in closer relationship to livestock and livestock product prices and placing all commodities on a more comparable basis. This change is advocated because of improved farming methods which has resulted in more efficient production of basic crops.

Pipe Is Mere Decoration
HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — Montana's governor, J. Hugo Aronson, has a king sized pipe capable of holding a full packet of tobacco. An old friend Reed Carlson, bought it for him in China when he was in the Air Force. There is only one drawback — Hugo doesn't smoke a pipe.

Brotherhood is one of the urgent necessities of our day, the Rev. David M. Bryan of the First Christian Church told the Rotary Club at the meeting on Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

In our day prejudices and discriminations have become vastly more costly. We can no longer afford to live by the shibboleth of color. Perhaps there was a time, Mr. Bryan declared, when we could talk about brotherhood as though it was one of the luxuries of life, but in our day it has suddenly become one of the urgent necessities.

Our world today is falling apart at the seams and threatening to dissolve in some great destructive inferno. I am convinced that more than any other single cause the resentment growing out of discrimination and prejudice is responsible."

Mr. Bryan went on to declare that those of us who have pale, anemic looking skins need to understand that we are very much in the minority in the world in which we live.

"God must love color because two thirds of his children have it in their skins." Today there will be about 230,000 babies born in the world and only about 70,000 of them will be born with this impractical white complexion upon which we spend millions of

Killed Man, Let Another Take Blame In 1935

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Police today considered what action to take against a motor car company worker who said he killed a hood companion in 1935 and then let another youth take the blame.

Anthony Derda, 29, walked up to a police inspector in a restaurant and told his story yesterday, saying he wanted to clear his conscience and "get right with God."

"That other guy has been living with a black mark on his record all of these years," he said. "I've been living with the actual guilt."

He identified the boy killed in a woods near Pittsburgh 18 years ago as Steve Kotola, then about 7. Henry Oberhelman, then 16, was accused of the crime and sent to a boys' corrective school. Derda added.

Pittsburgh police verified young Kotola had been killed, but said Oberhelman was tried and acquitted of the shooting. Oberhelman later died.

Deputy Police Inspector Chester J. Burnett said Derda gave these details:

Derda, 11 at the time, was hunting rabbits with the Kotola boy. The boy taunted him and Derda shot him through the head with a .22 rifle.

Derda then concocted a story for police, saying the boy had stolen his rifle and fled in the woods.

When the snow melted 45 days later, the body was found and Oberhelman was blamed.

In Pittsburgh, Joseph Flynn, captain of homicide detectives, described Oberhelman as a "mentally retarded" youth who spent time in mental institutions before and after the shooting. He admitted the shooting at first, then denied it and was acquitted when eventually brought to trial. Flynn reported.

Three Die as Video Audience Sees Fire

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Three persons died and four others were injured severely last night in an apartment building fire viewed by thousands on their television sets.

The fire scene was diagonally across from the WAVE-TV Building.

Soon after the blaze broke out, the television station rolled its cameras to the window and provided its viewers with a first hand account.

Coffee production has found various parts of the world supplying the bulk of the market since the 17th Century when Arabia was the world leader. Later the West Indies were the main source of supply. Java came next and finally Brazil became the world production leader.

Vows Demos' Recession Talk Hurting US

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said today Democratic talk of a business recession is hurting the country and ought to be stopped.

Ferguson, who heads the Senate GOP Policy Committee, spoke out after former President Hoover had discounted the possibility of a depression and Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell had said reaction of the pocketbook nerve is likely to determine control of Congress in November.

"I don't think there is going to be any recession but I must say the propaganda for it is much more effective than I had anticipated it would be," Ferguson said in an interview.

"All this talk is persuading some people not to buy. And when they don't buy an article, somebody who is making it loses his job."

Hoover told the American Good Government Society here last night that as a man who had had one depression named for him he thought he could say with good authority there are no signs on the landscape of any big depression now.

Observing that economic dips occur about every five or seven years in free enterprise systems, Hoover added:

"You can have high confidence that this is only a passing dip, a slump, a readjustment or a recession, not a great depression."

He said the "combustible materials are not hereabouts to construct another conflagration like that of the decade of the thirties." Then, he said, a total financial collapse in Europe combined with public overoptimism and a weak banking system at home to bring about worldwide depression.

Mitchell told a news conference yesterday he believes control of Congress will turn in November on how the voters answer the question: "Am I better or worse off than I was a year ago?"

Ferguson discounted that, saying:

"I think the American people are much more intelligent than Mr. Mitchell gives them credit with being. They know we Republicans are trying to get from a war to a peace economy."

"In my opinion, the public is going to be better satisfied with a more substantial and continuing peace economy, with some of the inflation squeezed out of it."

Ferguson said he doesn't agree with Mitchell's estimate that President Eisenhower's popularity with the voters is diminishing.

Mitchell said the President's popularity is going down because the people are identifying him more closely with his party "and they know from previous experience what the Republicans are like."

The party chairman reported Democratic stock "going up mighty fast" in nine states which he recently visited. They included Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Montana, Washington, Oregon and New Mexico. These states will elect six senators and 25 House members in November.

True D. Morse, under secretary of agriculture, said in a Decatur, Ill., speech last night the downward turn of farm prices has been checked and "the year ahead will be profitable for farmers."

He said enactment of flexible price supports urged by Eisenhower would help promote general farm prosperity.

Scientist Is Sorry He Missed Duster

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Prof. Naoto Kumagai of Japan, probably that country's foremost geophysicist, arrived here yesterday to start a Texas tour and said he was unhappy he missed last week's severe dust storm.

"I am always the student of unusual soil formations," he explained.

Pett Takes Piercing Look At an 'Agony' TV Program

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Out of a clinical curiosity, I went to an "agony" television program recently and everything went according to plan; I never felt worse.

The show was "Strike It Rich," which gives away about $250,000 a year to people who tell their troubles before the cameras. For that kind of dough, you can buy a lot of trouble.

The audience involved mostly women and some servicemen who seemed to have wandered in out of boredom. On the stage there were many boxes of a wash detergent and paste-board hearts since this is "the original show with a heart" and the soap pays for the heart.

A few minutes before air time, a cheerful, tall man came out and introduced "The man with the really big heart," who turned out to be Walter Framer, the show's producer. Framer, a short man with heavy glasses and a nervous, set smile, introduced the man who had introduced him.

Then Framer made a little speech which I took to be an answer to recent criticism of the show on the grounds that it attracts needy people to New York who end up on relief and that it exhibits bad taste in parading human misery in public.

"We're not running a welfare department," Framer said. "Just a little quiz game, which is basically for entertainment and also some inspiration."

Framer concluded by telling us he wasn't asking us to applaud but he'd appreciate it if we did when he raised his hands thus and so and, besides, there would be prizes later for those who applauded the most.

As the show got under way, Framer was very busy, running around checking camera angles, watching the clock, leading applause and several times darting backstage to announce "heartline" calls in behalf of the sick girl in Hartford. These donations included $50 from a meat market, which was named.

Later, I went backstage, where prospective contestants were being interviewed for future shows. They included a pregnant woman and her husband, two women with small children, two soldiers and one young lady, somewhat disheveled in a long coat and saddle shoes, who was crying quite visibly. "I'm so nervous," she sobbed. "I'm getting married next month. I want a tractor for my farm."

Approves Salary Hike For Canada's Leaders

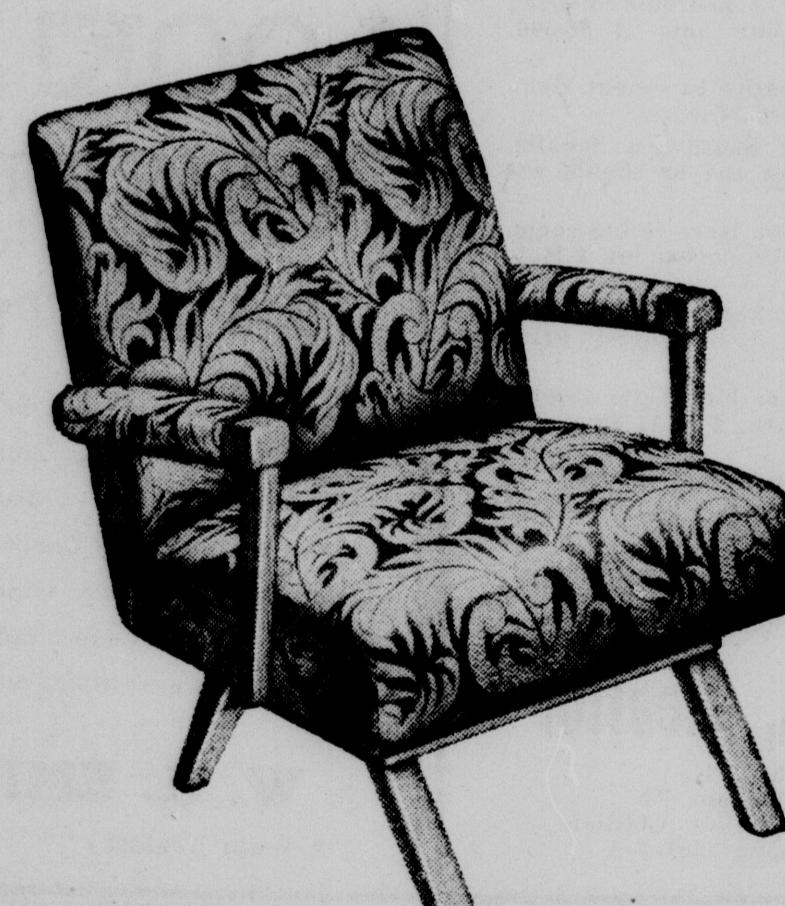

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's House of Commons yesterday approved salary boosts of $10,000 a year for the Prime Minister and $5,000 for each of the 21 other Cabinet ministers. Prime Minister St. Laurent's pay will be $37,000 and his ministers' $27,000.

Ike Golfs Today As Vacation Ends

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—This is the last day of President Eisenhower's southern California vacation, and he plans to spend a good part of it on the golf course.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower are scheduled to start back to Washington by plane tonight and to arrive in the capital early tomorrow morning. There are sleeping quarters aboard their special plane, the Columbine.

After Eisenhower arrives in the capital, Secretary of State Dulles will give him a first-hand report on the Berlin Big Four conference.

Eisenhower arrived here last Wednesday night. He and the First Lady have been guests of Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of the Shubert Corp., and Paul H. Helm, Los Angeles bakery executive. The Eisenhowers are staying at the Smoke Tree Ranch home of the Helm's.

The President has missed playing golf only one day since he arrived, and White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he had had "a completely wonderful time."

Meanwhile, Hagerty declined for the third time to comment on the hot dispute between Secretary of the Army Stevens and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The last guest was a public health nurse who wanted to win money for a hospital bed for her patients but just then the program ran out of time. There were only a few seconds left to announce "heartline" calls in behalf of the sick girl in Hartford. These donations included $50 from a meat market, which was named.

Later, I went backstage, where prospective contestants were being interviewed for future shows. They included a pregnant woman and her husband, two women with small children, two soldiers and one young lady, somewhat disheveled in a long coat and saddle shoes, who was crying quite visibly.

"I'm so nervous," she sobbed. "I'm getting married next month. I want a tractor for my farm."

The word "coin" originally meant the wedge-shaped die used for stamping coins but was later applied to the piece of metal money so stamped.

"My girl had hiccups and I was trying to scare her out of them."
